Rev. C. F. Daniel, 1st Student, Honored On Dual Anniversary

The Rev. Christian F. Daniel, c.p.p.s., '91-'96 celebrated a Solemn High Mass on Laetare Sunday, March 16, 1947, at St. Joseph's Church, Pulaski, Indiana, in observance of the forty-fifth anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood. The happy occasion took on an added significance in a dual celebration as Father Daniel and over 200 of his parishioners observed his 75th birthday.

Assisting at the Mass were the following members of the college faculty: the Rev. A. J. Zanolar, c.p.p.s., '25-'27, who served as deacon, and the Rev. Fred Fehrenbacher, c.p.p.s., '17-'22, sub-deacon.

Rev. Ildephonse Rapp, c.p.p.s., '00, delivered the sermon. Following the Mass a Communion breakfast was held in the church. The event was attended by parishioners and friends from neighboring parishes. Father Fehrenbacher gave a short talk during the breakfast, which was followed with a response by Father Daniel. At this time a new model radio was presented as a jubilarian by members of the parish.

Father Daniel, first student to register at St. Joseph's and charter member of the Alumni Association, was born on March 19, 1872, in Red, Seneca county, Ohio, the son of Valentine and Margaret Miller Daniel. He was required to stay on the farm until younger children could help before he was able to leave home to study for the priesthood.

After a few weeks' stay at Carthage, Ohio, Father Daniel was sent to Rensselaer, Indiana, to assist in teaching at the newly established Indian school where he taught for two years. During this time the first building of St. Joseph's College was erected and student Daniel was the first to register when classes opened in September, 1891. He was ordained on March 14, 1902, after completing his studies at St. Charles Seminary, Carthage, Ohio.

His first assignment was that of assistant at Sacred Heart Church, Sedalia, Mo., which included the spiritual care of missions in four Ozark region counties. He returned to Rensselaer, Ind., to assume the pastorate of St. Augustine's Church. This assignment was followed by his return to Sedalia where he remained as pastor for twenty years. Then came his present assignment. Father Daniel became pastor of St. Joseph's Church at Pulaski in October, 1940.

Alumnus Edward Holtz '13 Sends Contact To Library

The father of a large family, an active member of the K. of C., the Holy Name Society, and Scoutmaster of a local troop, Edward A. Holtz '10-'13 still finds time to promote the interests of his Alma Mater.

This casual report in a recent letter evidenced a commendable spirit: "Every copy of CONTACT is greatly enjoyed, and after I finish it, I send it up to St. Gerard's school library."

There are other indications of loyalty in Mr. Holtz' letter. He writes:

"Still entertain many fond memories of St. Joe and the old gang of long ago. Occasionally run into Fathers Otto Mueller, Leo Landoll, and John Bruin and enjoy a real rehashing of old times."

Of his five sons, three served in the South Pacific in the recent war, two in the navy and one in the army.

Mr. Holtz, who can be reached at 1124 N. Main St., Lima, Ohio, closes his letter with a cheery hello to Bro. David.

FR. BERNARD SCHIARF "Timezapoppin'" Show To Tell College Lore For Alumni Reunion

Ole Olson and Chic Johnson tickled the ribs of Broadway with their show, "Hellzapoppin'," for just three short years.

But Olson and Johnson were somewhat limited in the material with which to keep the New Yorkers coming back. They just didn't think of St. Joe with its rich lore of unforgettable incidents that once prematurely greyed the temples of our past presidents and disciplinarians.

That's where we, in the Alumni Office, have the advantage over these amateurish footlight fumblerers.

Yes, sir! men, the biggest thing to hit the college campus this side of Rensselaer since the great fire of—well, any fire, for that matter, is coming to St. Joe on Sunday night, June 22, 1947.

Stop now and check that date. When you find that it is the second night of the Big Three, the big three reunion days for the alumni of St. Joe, then underline that date!

Now, to you married men of the alumni: I don't know if it strikes you right off-hand, but this important date can be just another subtle argument in favor of your being permitted to attend all three days. Try it out right now on the little woman. We'll wait for you.

What is this big event headed straight for Alumni Hall in Collegeville? Well, men, it's a stage extravaganza that will have the movie magnates dribbling over their drippy films and the Broadway producers drooling over their droopy dramas.

This show of shows of any year, or any age in Collegeville, is "Timezapoppin'." I know what you're going to think. But this similarity between "Timezapoppin'" and "Hellzapoppin'" brings out what I tried to suggest before. Olson and Johnson aren't very original.

"Timezapoppin'" will vibrantly enact the many unforgettable incidents of St. Joe history that have since become legendary. The very things that St. Joe men invariably talk about whenever and wherever they meet will be presented for you on the stage in a Belasco-bantering style.

Besides the smile-provoking aspect of this show, it will have its educational and informative side. As they used to say in St. Joe Latin classes years ago, exempli gratia: if through the years you have been a little preoccupied and unhappy because you never were quite able to figure out who the character was that nailed your shoes to the dormitory floor, short-sheeted your bed, and then put salt in your cereal, why, worry no more, brother!

There on the stage, as big and plain as life, you will not only see the guy, you will see him doing it. If you would like to see these things plague you again, all of you men will have to help us make "Timezapoppin'" a bell-ringing success.

Please, sit down right now, never mind that supper, and write us the incidents that split your academic sides as you played your role on the stage of life at St. Joe.

Remember, men, it's your show and we want it to be the show that you will always remember.

"Timezapoppin'" must be a great show of the alumni, by the alumni, and for the alumni. Lincoln said a mouthful, when he said that.

If "Timezapoppin'" enjoys the success we hope it will, "Timezapoppin'" will become another St. Joe tradition. It's all up to you, men of St. Joe.

Frank G. Kraft '25 Gives Helping Hand

A very pleasant letter with welcomed information came our way in the past week from alumnus Frank G. Kraft, '23-'25.

In his letter, Frank gave us a detailed report of a couple of alumni who had been missing from our mailing list, and furnished us with their present addresses.

Very often, when members of the alumni association move, they fail to leave their new address with their local postoffice, and sometimes forget to notify our office. When the local postoffices are informed of a change of address they relay the information to us.

Frank is a Funeral Director in the firm of George A. Kraft, Inc. In addition to his duties as breadwinner, Frank is a member of the Park Commission of New Albany, Ind., a member of the K. of C. (4th Section), and of the Catholic Community Center Staff.

Frank makes his home with his wife and two boys at 2535 Glenwood Ct., New Albany, Ind.

They Have No Love-

America is in a nerve racking turmoil; a sad state of bewildering unrest. There has been a spirit-crushing war, and now, rumors of war. There have been paralyzing strikes, and now, more strikes.

The yearning, hopeful eyes of a war-weary people, just two years ago, were glued on San Francisco, the cradle of the U.N.O. Today, heartsick after two years of frustrating disagreements among the world powers, these same eyes are sadly turning from that organization and its illusive ideals.

Twelve million service men, who looked forward with a reasonable hope for a better America with a new progress, find now that, as veterans, they are but racing on a treadmill of disappointment.

One in every three marriages is ending in the divorce courts—cheap love on an assembly line! Homes are broken up with unwanted children thrown, confused, into a more confused world. Recently, in one of our large cities, a man and a woman shamelessly announced at a reconciliation in court that they had no room in their new home for their two children. The father had two other children by a later marriage. Man is putting asunder in the divorce court what God had joined together!

You know these people. They are not unlike the people next door; the man who fills your gas tank at the corner filling station; the woman across the street who exchanges shopping notes with your wife. Yet they are wandering aimlessly in all parts of the world—tired, sick, despondent, and despairing.

These misguided souls have lost sight of fundamentals: their relation to man—man's relation to God. They have, furthermore, been led to believe that the prescription of the Divine Physician is out-dated—just won't work on our present ills. And they believe that it is distasteful.

Catholic alumni, in a very strong sense, have been selected for special training as were the twelve apostles. Catholic alumni live next door to these moral ills; much nearer than do our priests. The Divine Physician expects, even commands, that we aid Him in drawing these bewildered people to Him.

As soldiers of Christ let us arm ourselves in the month of Ma(r)y, not with the impetuous sword of Peter, but with the winning weapon of love, the daily rosary. If we sincerely ask the Blessed Mother through the daily rosary for the conversion of Russia, the sanctification of family life, for industrial and world peace, she will not refuse! She once allayed a social embarrassment by saying: "They have no wine." She will alleviate the moral embarrassment of the world with: "Son, they have no Love!"

The Alumni Office wishes to express sincere thanks to the following alumni who have furnished the office with addresses of alumni who had been in the lost address file:

Frank G. Kraft, '23-'25
Rev. John B. Schaeffer, '15-'21
Rev. Anthony E. Ley, c.p.p.s., '35-'39

Watch This Column For Lost Addresses

We sincerely ask the aid of each alumnus in our earnest efforts to locate the following members from the 'lost address file.'

Kindly look closely at each name, the years spent at St. Joe, and the last address as listed. A surprising number of alumni have been found and contacted by means of a short phone call. In each case, an alumnus found was happy to be reinstated in the great family circle of St. Joe.

We kindly ask that you look through your local telephone directory. An identical name, if not that of the alumnus may prove a valuable lead. Make the call—do this great service to your Alma Mater and her 'lost' alumni.

Clakis, Gordon '37-'38, 6850 Normal Blvd., Chicago, Ill.

Flood, Arthur R. '37-'38, 21 Broadway Ave., Wilmette, Ill.

Juricich, Raymond W. '41, 839 N 7th Ave., Canton, Ohio.

Jung, Leo F. '17, 30 W. Warren St., Calumet, Ill.

Joseph, Joseph N. '43, 101 Hurburt, Peoria, Ill.

Koontz, William J. '40, Union City, Ind.

Kaiser, William J. '35, 327 East Hill St., Wabash, Ind.

Kain, Raymond C. '41, 102 Brown St., Saginaw, Mich.

"But, Turtledove, all the fellows are gonna be there for the Alumni Reunion this year"

This column is warmly dedicated to those of the alumni who are lovers of good coffee. To those St. Joe men who are incorrigibly addicted to the tea-drinking habit we offer respectful, sympathetic recognition.

This column is a toast to that aromatic beverage whose tantalizing fragrance and pleasing flavor make it the drink of millions around the world. It is the satisfying beverage of kings, the indispensable stimulant of the proletariat, the soothing balm of beggars, and theectar of the gods.

Did you ever hear a lowly brother say: "Brother, can you spare a quarter for a jigger of bourbon?" No! it's always a dime for a cup of coffee. That extra nickel, I've always suspected, is to tip the waitress.

Among the many virtues of this champion among draughts is its political neutrality. Communists sip through their red beards with, or without, lend-lease. Democrats and republicans, despairing of its non-partisanship, deeply regret that it is not introduced into the country as one of their official family.

I have no patience with the busy-lies, as nettlesome as the prohibitionists, who are forever trying to move caffeine from the jovial realm. Coffee without caffeine would be as disastrous as eggs without yolk, toast without butter and a baseball without the high.

A feature of this column will be spotlighting the man-of-the-month among the coffee drinkers of the alumni. This month we tip our typewriter to James R. (call me Hogan) Bogan '40-'43.

Jim has been pouring that good coffee in one of the college dining rooms for his guests, and the dexterity with which he handles the coffee pot shows his deep respect for the king of all brews. Jim Bogan, the coffee man of the month!

Coffee is the drink that merits the old toast, "Here's mud in your eye." It is the only drink I know that has grounds in it. Until next month, men, here's hot mud in your eye!

Calendar of Coming Events

The calendar of events for the coming month is as crowded with things as your top dresser drawer. Music, philosophy, science, commerce, drama, romance, oratory, and sports provide the variety that gives spice to college life.

Richard Carpenter Returns

Richard Carpenter, concert pianist, will be the eighth and last artist on the Speckbaugh Memorial Theatre Series this season, which will close at 8 p. m., Wednesday, May 7. Carpenter, always a favorite with St. Joe students, has presented three concerts here in past years.

A mystery-drama Ten Little Indians, by Agatha Christie, will be staged by the Columbian Players May 9 and 11.

The Indiana Philosophical Association will meet on the campus April 26, according to the Rev. Dr. Edwin G. Kaiser, c.p.p.s., chairman of the department of religion and philosophy. Talks will be given by Professor John J. Fitzgerald, University of Notre Dame; Professor Gordon H. Clark, Butler University; Sister Maria Annice, St. Mary's College, and Professor Leo Hertel, Franklin College.

Science Exhibit Next

Science students of six colleges and 68 high schools have been invited to attend the annual Albertus Magnus Science Club exhibit on April 27, it was announced by the Rev. Albert Wuest, c.p.p.s., director of the club. Science in peacetime will be the theme of the demonstrations and short lectures given by students of chemistry, biology, physics, mathematics, and geology.

The Guedelhoff Oratory Contest, sponsored annually by John Guedelhoff '10-'13, Indianapolis, will be held May 14.

The annual Spring Musicale was staged April 22. The glee club, under the direction of the Rev. Lawrence Heiman, c.p.p.s., featured folk songs of America, Ireland, Russia, Czechoslovakia, and Yugoslavia. The band, under direction of Paul Tonner, featured music of America.

Frank J. Travers, second vice-president of the Lincoln National Life Insurance Company, Fort Wayne, will be principal speaker at a banquet sponsored by the Commerce Club, which is under the direction of the Rev. Cletus Dirksen, c.p.p.s. The banquet, open to the public, will be served at 7 p. m., Tuesday, April 29, in the dining hall of St. Augustine's Church, Rensselaer.

Mr. Frank Travers

The following baseball games are on the schedule: April 19, at Valparaiso; April 24, Indiana State; April 26, Chicago Teachers; April 29, Valparaiso; May 3, at Great Lakes; May 9, at Chicago Teachers; May 11, Whiting Legion; May 13, at Indiana; May 17, at Indiana State; May 24, Great Lakes.

Brokers' R. F. Shields Visits Campus Friends

Traveling on business between Chicago and Ft. Wayne, Robert F. Shields, '40-'43, thought of his friends in college and stopped off to spend a few enjoyable hours.

Bob, who put in 38 months with the Marines, was a first lieutenant with the 5th Div. and 3rd Amphibian Tractor Btn. A member of the Investment Bankers Assn., Marine Corps League, the V.F.W., and the Purple Heart Club, Bob is employed by the Bear, Stearns and Co. Brokerage as a contact man in the Bond Dept.

As representative of his firm, he travels throughout the middlewest, contacting firms dealing in bonds.

Bob and his wife, Marie Elizabeth, are at home at 6741 S. Racine Ave., Chicago 36, Ill.

Old Adage Topped By Stuff and Contact

"The pen is mightier than the sword," is an adage that has sharpened many a saw. Mightier than that, it seems, are Stuff and CONTACT.

Recent articles about philatelists among the alumni in those publications inspired a letter from hobbyist Daniel A. Hayden '15-'17 to hobbyist Rev. Gilbert F. Esser, c.p.p.s., '12-'18, moderator of the Farley Stamp Club on the campus.

Mr. Hayden is an auditor for the State of Illinois and finds his working hours fairly well filled. If, however, there is a spare moment in his off-duty hours, he assigns it to the embellishing of his stamp collection.

Friends and classmates who would like to write to Mr. Hayden and add to his stamp collection at the same time, can do so by addressing a stamped envelope to: P. O. Box 703, Bloomington, Illinois.

The Spring Formal will be held Saturday night, May 10. Benny Strong and his orchestra will come from the Trianon to provide the music.

Benny Strong

Seeing Isn't Believing

"Unbelievable" was slowly spelled out on the face of the Rev. Herbert Renner, c.p.p.s., '35-'39 as he recently inspected the new Alumni Office.

He was, of course, regarding the office and the entire publications building with a clear mental picture of what it had been a short time before: an old storage building with tool rooms, and before that, the old power house.

Father Renner is an assistant at St. Stephen's Church, 223 S. McPherson St., South Bend.

Detroiters Sit-up And Notice When Puma Goes On Prowl

When St. Joe's sports flexes its muscles in Detroit the local citizens sit up and take notice, and for very good reasons. Sports fans in the MotorCity first became aware of the prowess of the Puma when Brother Henry Kosalko '34-'41 consistently built championship teams at St. Anthony's High School. He led two teams to city championship playoffs in recent football seasons.

Now the attention of the Detroit sports fans is being drawn to another sport and another division by another active alumnus. The little hardwood artists of Holy Rosary grade school went through the entire season with flying CYO colors and without a single defeat. But the real test that demanded championship mettle came in the playoffs.

Preserving their victory string intact, the fighting grade schoolers took four straight games in the finals for the undisputed possession of the city title.

The coach-alumnus is the Rev. Lawrence S. Cyr, c.p.p.s., '35-'39. He is justifiably proud of the little champs and poses this challenge: "They can best any grade school combination in the country."

If there are grade school coaches that bristle before such challenges they can take proper steps by writing the challenger at: Our Lady of the Rosary Rectory, 5860 Woodward Avenue, Detroit 2, Mich.

When Traveling, Bastin Looks Up Alumni Friends

Another refreshing example of fine spirit among the alumni is that of Abel F. Bastin '20-'26. Whenever he travels he carries an alumni directory with him to locate classmates and friends and to make new acquaintances among the alumni.

Mr. Bastin, a glass cutter for the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. of Clarksburg, W. Va., is one of sixteen hundred in the entire country in this highly specialized profession.

Mr. Bastin makes his home with his wife and family in the same city at 6 Timberlake Court.

Bro. Edward Wendeln, c.p.p.s., '35-'39, Brunnerdale Seminary, R. R. 1, Canton, Ohio, another active alumnus, supplied us with the information concerning Mr. Bastin.

Albert E. Prosser Analytical Chemist

Visiting his former professor of the Science Dept., the Rev. Albert A. Wuest, c.p.p.s., '25-'26, Albert E. Prosser, '42-'45, was brought down to our office by thoughtful alumnus Fr. Wuest.

Al, who is an Analytical Chemist for Socony Vacuum of E. St. Louis, Ill., is a member of the Engineers Club of St. Louis, and the Catholic Youth Guild of E. St. Louis.

Al's address is 540-N. 18th St., E. St. Louis, Ill.

Ed Henrich Scores Hit With Assist From Tommy

In all of his baseball days at St. Joe, "It's a hit," never brought more joy to Edward Henrich '24-'27 than a certain day in the early part of this year.

The happy day was when Ed scored his greatest hit and won the "until death do us part" promise from Miss Florence Russ.

Big Ed, a great first baseman on one of St. Joe's powerful teams, got an assist on the play from brother Tommy, outfielder for the New York Yankees who, with brothers Charles and Arthur and Mr. Earl Clasper, sang at the Nuptial High Mass celebrated at St. Mary's Church, Massillon, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Henrich have taken up residence in Mansfield, Ohio, where Ed is employed by Westinghouse Electric.

Friends and classmates who would like to extend their congratulations and get the complete box-score, can reach the Mr. and Mrs. by writing 241½ Baldwin St., Mansfield, Ohio.

Dental Bridges Open For Pfc. Ed Keller

A recent visitor on the campus brought with him a little military air. The Unionist was Pfc. Edward F. Keller, '42-'46.

Completing his training, he was transferred to Percy Jones General Hospital, Battle Creek, Mich. Ed is an x-ray technician for the Dental Department.

The young Private, First Class, doesn't, as yet, find army life down in the mouth, but he doesn't cross his dental bridges till he comes to them.

His complete address is: 9951 TSU SGO Det. 1, M.D. Dental Clinic, Percy Jones General Hospital, Battle Creek, Mich.

Robert E. Ortman Sells Electrolux

On a business trip in the vicinity, Robert E. Ortman '41-'43 went out of his way recently to drop in on his campus friends.

A crack salesman for the Electrolux Corporation, Bob makes his family headquarters with wife and baby. Judith Ann, 4 months old, at 891 S. Elm, Kankakee, Ill.

Bob, who spent two and a half years in the army, was an infantry mortar gunner in the Battle of the Bulge.

Daily Calumet Calm As New Cub Signs For Future Service

The presses of the Daily Calumet, a popular independent in South Chicago, Ill., kept rolling, with the front office completely unaware of the boon come their way.

On March 23, 1947, they received an option on the services of a brand new cub reporter who could report for duty in a matter of about twenty years.

They are confident, however, that he will have been well versed in the tricks of the trade by that time, and that he will surely be signing his checks in printer's ink.

Their hopes are well-founded, for he is the son of Edward R. Kasper '37-'38, one of their leading reporters. Ed, who was a staff writer for the Army Times in addition to his fighting duties in North Africa, Egypt, France and Germany, will, undoubtedly, have the tiny tyro teething on a typewriter.

We arranged an interview by remote control, and this is what the new daddy had to say: "the heir to the Kasper fortune (a slightly used car, a faded St. Joe sweater, and a few European coins) was born March 23, Passion Sunday, at 1:39 a. m. He weighed approximately six pounds at birth and his father lost 10 pounds."

Still in a happy frame of mind, he concluded with: "Thanks for your congratulations and hope I can do the same for you some day."

St. Joe man, James Buckley, college junior and uncle of the newborn, served as Godfather as the name, Daniel, was pronounced over the baby in baptism Easter Sunday morning.

Bulletins of best wishes are reaching the new Kasper Trio at 11101 Avenue D, Chicago 17, Ill.

College Home-like To Frank J. Fischer

The month of April brought a score or more of alumni visitors to the campus and the new Alumni Office. We hope the number of alumni visitors continues and that St. Joe men mark the college down on their itinerary whenever they plan a trip near the campus.

One of the welcomed visitors last month was Frank J. Fischer, '23-'26. In our conversation about the old and the new St. Joe, Frank remarked that the college always seemed home-like in all of his visits.

Frank was a mess supervisor and instructor in the army, where he spent 42 months nurturing the morale of Uncle Sam's finest.

Friends and classmates can reach Frank by writing Box 126, Wayne, Ill., where Frank is Private Secretary of the Walter S. Ross estate.

Greater Thrill As New Dad

Deep sea diving for 3½ years overseas with the Navy afforded many an interesting experience. Paul W. Wehrle, '38-'42 during war years.

Although he reports it rather calmly, he was, unquestionably more thrilled recently in civil life than at any time in his eventful military career.

This is how Paul reports the event: "On January 19, 1947, a newcomer, Michael Patrick by name, came to our little home. He had great expectations of enrolling at St. Joe in the class of '61."

Little Mike will be a busy young man trying to keep in step with the pace set by his dad as a student at the academy at St. Joe. Paul fills the position of treasurer, and acts as that of secretary, in the Far Stamp Club. He was a member also, of the Newman Club and Camera Club.

Making his home in Pensacola, Fla., Paul is doing very well as insurance agent for Liberty National Life. We heard from usual reliable sources that the enterprising young insurance agent has already sold a policy to Michael Patrick. The same report stated that Michael Patrick was already planning to use the principal of the business insurance at its maturity for college education at St. Joe.

A speeding letter addressed 1327 E. Lee St., Pensacola, Fla. will procure complete details on the story.

Henry Gzybowski '33 Looks Up Alumni

When you read about a young man who is within four hours of college credit at Northwestern University for work done in the University's night school you know that he is an enterprising young man.

When you learn that he is a member of the Chicago Jr. Association of Commerce, the Society for Advancement of Management, and the Industrial Engineers Association, you know that he is an ambitious young man.

But it is not until you check the records that you find out that he is the energetic secretary-treasurer of the Cook County Chapter of the Alumni Association.

The young man who keeps tabs over 170 members of the chapter and keeps them abreast of the organization's activities is Henry (Gee!) Gzybowski, '30-'36.

It's the busy men who get things done, so Henry also has a job. Henry Gee is a Management Consultant.

Friends and classmates can change interesting notes with Henry by writing 12 W. Chestnut Chicago 10, Ill.
